

For students/ young people

Information regarding the recruitment of volunteers for the study (The impact of sports participation on educational attainment: ethics reference). This project is a PhD study at the University of Lincoln looking at supporting young people that participate in sport and are currently studying. This study is currently looking for young people that are aged between 12-19 and are currently participating in sports while studying. This will involve completing a questionnaire and may involve participating in a follow-up interview with the researcher to discuss your questionnaire. You do not have to take part in the study as it is your choice. You can stop participating at any point. Please speak to your teacher (gatekeeper contact) if you would like to get involved. Please email the researcher (Matthew Newton) at 16662044@students.lincoln.ac.uk if you have any questions.

This is an exciting opportunity and will enable us to explore which factors may affect how students do in education as well as looking at various skills and strategies adopted! Contact the (gatekeeper contact) if you wish to participate in this study!

For teachers

Information regarding the recruitment of volunteers for the study (The impact of sports participation on educational attainment: ethics reference). This project is a PhD study at the University of Lincoln looking at supporting young people that participate in sport and are currently studying. You are under no obligation to reply to this post, however, if you choose to, participation in this research is voluntary and you may withdraw at any time. Please feel free to contact the researcher (Matthew Newton) at 16662044@students.lincoln.ac.uk

This study is currently looking for teachers that teach young people (12-19) who also participate in sport. This will involve being in a focus group with other teachers and sports coaches to discuss the topic.

This is an exciting opportunity to contribute to research and will enable us to explore which factors may affect attainment as well as looking at various skills and strategies adopted! Please email the researcher (Matthew Newton) at 16662044@students.lincoln.ac.uk if you have any questions and would like to get involved with the study.

For sports coaches

Information regarding the recruitment of volunteers for the study (The impact of sports participation on educational attainment: ethics reference). This project is a PhD study at the University of Lincoln looking at supporting young people that participate in sport and are currently studying. You are under no obligation to reply to this post, however, if you choose to, participation in this research is voluntary and you may withdraw at any time. Please feel free to contact the researcher (Matthew Newton) at 16662044@students.lincoln.ac.uk

This study is currently looking for sports coaches that coach young people (12-19) who are also studying in education. This will involve being in a focus group with other coaches and teachers to discuss the topic.

This is an exciting opportunity to contribute to research and will enable us to explore which factors may affect attainment as well as looking at various skills and strategies adopted! Please email the researcher (Matthew Newton) at 16662044@students.lincoln.ac.uk if you have any questions and would like to get involved with the study.